A black and white illustration of a heart pierced by a dagger, surrounded by roses. A banner at the bottom reads 'MADRE' with blood dripping from the heart.

A detailed black and white illustration featuring a central, large skull with a wide, toothy grin. The skull is adorned with a crown of roses. It is surrounded by a chaotic scene of smoke, wavy lines, and various symbolic objects. In the bottom left, a scythe is visible. In the bottom right, there is an hourglass and a heart pierced by a dagger. A small planet with a ring is also present. In the top left corner, there is a text box containing stylized, illegible characters. The entire illustration is framed by a thick black border.

As is shown above; if we were to expand our perifial vision out, around, and back from the physical, we would come to a fast warping area that would bend us back around so that we would be looking out through our eyes again!
